

TEACHING LEARNING IN THE CLASSROOM

CORNWALL

CONFERENCE

MONDAY, APRIL 23 2018

Evidence-based approaches to learning how to learn

TALKS WORKSHOPS RESOURCES NETWORKS

9:30AM - 4PM

TRURO COLLEGE

COLLEGE ROAD, TRURO, CORNWALL TR1 3XX

CORNWALL Teaching School

TEACHING LEARNING IN THE CLASSROOM

Evidence suggests that pupils make more progress in classrooms that promote an understanding of how learning happens.

The Education Endowment Foundation's Toolkit and forthcoming Guidance Report identifies metacognition as a low-cost / high-impact strategy for teachers and leaders to use in improving pupils' self-regulation, long-term memory and independent learning.

Join colleagues from across Cornwall at this exciting event exploring practical ways of bringing evidence-based approaches to Learning to Learn into your classroom.

Hear from experts in the field and take part in a series of practical workshops aimed at improving teaching and learning for your pupils.

TICKETS
£95
or £49.50 for Members

MARC ROWLAND

Former Director of Policy and Research for the National Education Trust from 2007 to 2017, Marc is a published educational author and Director of the Research School at Rosendale Primary in London. Over the past four years, Marc has worked with the EEF on school-based research projects including a major study on Metacognition.

PROFESSOR
JONATHAN SHARPLES

Jonathan is a former Science teacher and now Senior Research Analyst at the Education Endowment Foundation. He works with schools and policy makers to promote evidence-based practice in teaching and learning. He has previously worked at The Institute for the Future of the Mind, at Oxford University.

LORWYN RANDALL

Lorwyn is the Director of Kingsbridge Research School where he is also an Assistant Principal leading on Evidence-informed Teaching and Learning. He is working with the Education Endowment Foundation and Institute for Effective Education developing professional learning programmes across the South West.

PLUS expert teacher-led workshops from Jon Eaton and Freya Morrissey

BOOK ONLINE: www.bit.do/cornwallaprilconference

Education
Endowment
Foundation

